Verstanden!

Christina Aguilera stuns in Paper magazine, but remains tight-lipped about new era.

It semi-feels like Xtina is back. The pop star shot some seriously epic photos for Paper, but in the interview doesn't offer too much about her forthcoming era. Hey, we'll take what we can get.

What can we take away from her sit-down?

[adinsertor block="1"]

She praises the Queen of Pop. "Madonna had to go through it in her day, and she paved the way for my generation to come up. And paying it forward, now a younger generation is coming up and I'm loving what I'm seeing. It's so incredible."

Namechecks Childish Gambino ("He's genius"), gives props to Chance the Rapper ("He's made it without a label, without any strings attached, and being so charismatic at the same time") and Cardi B ("She makes people really crack up just by being herself, and it's genuine.")

Read the full interview here then peep the photos below:

This has to be one of her best photo shoots to date. I don't understand why she always puts tons of makeup when she actually looks amazing with just a hint of it.

The pictures are absolutely stunning... Whoever did her hair and make-up is a genius. I didn't know she had freckles, they look beautiful on her (Demi has them too, and they look even better on her for some reason!) In one of the pics she kinda looks like Twiggy! And I love that font for her name, heh

How Do We Feel About Kim Kardashian Covering Billboard Magazine?

Non-artist Kim Kardashian is the face of Billboard magazine this week.

Verstanden!

Non-artist Kim Kardashian is the face of Billboard magazine this week.

The music giant made an interesting choice to plop reality TV star Kardashian on their cover this week, considering she's not a musician or artist (Business woman? We'll give her that). Does Kim have ties to one of the more impressionable artists of our generation a la Kanye West? Absolutely, but her perspective on music is limited to the feud with Taylor Swift, hanging with Britney Spears at the VMAs and some creative input on Kanye's recent musical offerings.

It's preposterous.

On the other hand, the fashion industry howled in horror when she landed on the cover of Vogue, and to say Kim doesn't make a splash in that industry is irresponsible. She wouldn't dare attempt to release another song (it happened!), so let's just keep an open mind on this. For the sake of not unravelling before the weekend hits.

The highlights:

Invalid ID: MTJzNTE5OQ==

Sorry

On her feud with Taylor Swift:

"Ugh, do we really have to talk about Taylor Swift? ... I'm so over it," she says with a laugh. "If it were up to Kanye, it all would probably never have come out. He can handle it, he has no hard feelings. He doesn't even really care. I just wanted to protect my husband. I saw him getting a lot of *." "You did a good job of it." "It wasn't even about a look or anything, or to have this feud — it was like, 'OK, here's the truth.' Done. Let's all move on. I feel like I don't want to talk about her anymore."

On how she always wanted to be a reality star:

When she was in grade school, Kardashian West became enthralled by the first season of MTV's The Real World. "I was like, 'Oh, my God, that's what I want to do,'" she says. "It's crazy that it has come full circle — the producers of my show were the ones that created The Real World." She got some of her first genuine media exposure as a sober pal to a hard-partying crew that included Paris Hilton. "I just thank God for my rhinestone Sidekick," she says of that era. "I would sit there checking Myspace all the time. They probably thought I was so boring."

Her first pregnancy was a surprise:

"I freaked the f— out," she says. "We weren't trying or -planning on it and I just didn't think I was ready. But you're never ready. It -happens when it's -supposed to happen and at the right time."

On how she felt bringing children into a life of fame:

"Both times when I was pregnant I'd literally just pray, 'I hope my baby can handle this life,'" she says. "I believe their souls choose us to be their parents — that they choose this life. That's my belief."

On hanging out with Britney at the VMA's:

"She's Britney!...I mean, how fun."

She reveals her favorite artists:

"Back in the day I loved Shania Twain," she says. "Celine Dion is my favorite, -favorite, -favorite. I love Ariana Grande. Sam Smith." Her preferred non-Kanye rappers? "Chance the Rapper is pretty dope. Big Sean. Eminem."

On when she went into the GA pit at Kanye's concert:

"Everyone was grabbing my ," she says, sounding amused but vaguely scandalized. "I was like, 'I have to get out of here.'"

On her creative input in Kanye's work:

"I'll be a full critic," she says. "I could just say, 'OK, the lighting should be different here.' He loves the opinion. And then he will go into rehearsal the whole next day and totally perfect it."

There's A Rumor That Kim Kardashian Will Be A Judge On American Idol

Makes sense.

/center>

Kim Kardashian is reportedly joining American Idol.

The rumors swirling around the American Idol reboot this year are wild. All we know for sure is that Katy Perry is a judge. However, that might change. Word on the street is that production delays may conflict with the pop star's upcoming Witness Tour and force her to drop out (and lose out on that $25 million paycheck). That'd give the show a lot of wiggle room to secure Kim Kardashian, who might take a seat on the judging panel. That is, if we are to believe a report from Naughty Gossip.

"While producers have been looking at Lionel Richie, Luke Bryan, Keith Urban and other people within the music business, Ryan [Seacrest] thinks the show should hire Kim. Promotion and social media are now just as important to Ryan is worried that if they just follow the format of the old show, that it will feel dated. Adding Kim will be a game-changer."

The audacity that a show will give reigning Reality TV queen Kim Kardashian the power to judge the fate of up and coming singers... This would be worth tuning in for.
